

INCURSION REFLECTION

WHO & WHERE

Navy Visit / Incursion
Ocean Reef Primary School
28 May 2019

EXCURSION FOCUS

Navy personnel visited ORPS to show and teach students some interesting facts about the Navy. There was a large static display of items and information in the quarterdeck. All classes visited the display throughout the day.

STUDENT COMMENT

Yesterday everyone in Ocean Reef Primary School went to the navy incursion. We had a look at their amazing features some of the student's favourites were the knot tying, the safety raft and the flag reading. They gave clear information and described how the navy survives if there was emergency. There was some cool ship stuff that you could make, camo helicopter, lip balm and navy wristbands. There was a life jacket that the navy crew showed us, it was a life jacket that inflates in case of an emergency with some cool features like a light that lights up by sea salt water and lasts for 3 days, a whistle to call for help and reflectable lights.

TEACHER COMMENT

The recent navy incursion was a great experience for the kids. The presenters delivered their information in a clear, 'kid-friendly' manner that kept the students' attention. It also involved a number of practical activities that let the student's get hands on and involved in the experience, rather than just sitting and listening. It was a unique and valuable incursion.
